

"Hello," I said You looked at me and found My glittering Continental face Commanding and enchanting My breath was perfect. "Hello," I said
My heart was empty, craved
Something to fill it for an hour
Or a year
My perfection
Was my inner need.

You responded.
With your full heart.
I took so much.

I'm sorry I am what I am.

I'm sorry.